

Grand Jury Finds No Fault With County School Lunch Program

We, the members of the September Grand Jury of the Perry Circuit Court, 1964, respectfully submit the following report to the court and to the citizens of Perry County:

We have been in session for 11 (eleven) days and have returned forty-nine (49) indictments, including four indictments for murder, an indictment for involuntary manslaughter, indictments for rape, robbery and various other crimes.

This session of the Grand Jury covered a period of four weeks and we devoted quite a lot of our time to investigating various conditions in our county.

The first matter which we investigated was the Perry County School System lunch program.

The Grand Jury had a specific complaint about the Dilce Combs High School's lunch program, and we proceeded to check all the records of this program, and after doing so it is the opinion of this Grand Jury that the lunch program of the Dilce Combs High School is being run and has been run in a competent and business like manner, with full accounting for all funds received and disbursed by this program, and it is our belief that the lunch program at the Dilce Combs High School is being run in accordance with both State and Federal rules and regulations.

The Grand Jury had been informed by members of the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment that the School Lunch Program in the remaining schools of Perry County were being run inefficiently and in violation of state and federal laws and that some school children were being deprived of their lunches.

The Grand Jury had before them the Perry County School Lunch Director who brought all the records on all the school lunch programs in Perry County, and the Grand Jury spent considerable time investigating these records and questioning the School Lunch Director as to the operation of this School Lunch Program.

The Grand Jury found that the School Lunch Program fed approximately 6,900 students out of a total student population of approximately 7,500 and that while the federal government furnished at no cost to the school system a part of the food for this program, the remainder of the expenses incurred by the program had to be met by the individual schools and that they met these expenses by charging a small amount, never exceeding 25c, per meal, to those pupils who could afford to pay; any pupil who was unable to pay is being fed free. We could find no discrimination against any pupil because of his race, creed or inability to pay, or station in life.

It is the opinion of this Grand Jury that the charges made by the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment are unfounded and untrue. This Grand Jury believes, from the records and from the investigation, that the School Lunch Program in Perry County is being run in strict accordance with the state and federal regulations. It is further our belief that this School Lunch Program is one of the best programs being offered to the citizens of Perry County and that the only thing needed in this program is an expansion and that every effort is being made to expand this program as quickly as possible so as to provide all the children of the county a hot lunch.

The Appalachian Committee for Full Employment, through its member George Goss, had written a letter to the Governor of Kentucky in which he had obtained the signatures of several men who were working on this program, protesting the conditions under which the program was being operated in Perry County.

The Grand Jury had before it most of the men whose names were affixed to this letter and they in every instance, except one, expressed satisfaction with this program and with the way in which the program was being operated in Perry County.

The Grand Jury believes that this is a very worthwhile program and that the program can be of great benefit, not only to the men who are working under the program, but also to the rest of the people of Perry County, by the public work which is being done under this program. The Grand Jury could find no wrong doing or violation of any local or state laws involved or connected with this program.

The Grand Jury heard complaints from many of our citizens and we returned indictments in each and every instance in which we felt that an indictment was warranted. The Grand Jury also heard criticism of some of our public officials, and while considering said criticism, could actually find no specific fact upon which any finger of wrong doing could be pointed at any particular individual. The Grand Jury feels that constructive criticism is very worthwhile to our county and to our community, but on the other hand destructive criticism which attempts to smear or injure anyone, not based upon specific or material fact, is a detriment to our community and to our county.

In closing the Grand Jury wishes to state that the county, as everyone knows, is in the process of building a new court house and jail and that all the financial records pertaining to said construction of the courthouse and jail are available and open to the public and are located in the office of Jessie Horn, Clerk of the Perry County Court, and that anyone wishes to check into the financing and into the construction of the Perry County courthouse and jail should feel free at any time to avail themselves of the privilege of checking these records.

As a last word, the Grand Jury would like to point out that everyone should feel free at all times to come before future grand juries which will be held in Perry County to complain to them about any law violations or wrong doings which have gone on or which may in the future go on in Perry County, and that it is the duty of the citizens of Perry County to so complained of or looked into. The Grand Jury wishes to thank the people who have appeared before it and our officials for their cooperation in working with us during this September term of the Perry Circuit Court.

Respectfully submitted,

PAULENA DUFF, Foreman

Hazard High Homecoming Queen Contestants

"Boost The Bulldogs" Send-off Pep Rally Tonight At 8:30

Hazard Booster's Club president C. L. "Jitter" Fouts has announced a Booster-sponsored combination pep rally and send-off for the Hazard High Bulldogs Thursday night at 8:30. It will take place in the Urban Renewal parking lot across from Bob Muncy's Service Station and the Shamrock.

At the rally there will be pep talks by booster members, cheerleaders and the coaches. All Hazard fans are urged to attend the meeting and show the players the town is behind them.

After all, they are unbeaten this season and go into the Lexington Lafayette game as four-point underdogs.

Caria Hall Murder Trial Has Recessed Until Monday; Witnesses Were Absent

The trial of Mary Baker for the August 14 knife slaying of Tary Baker in Perry County has been passed along until 9 a.m. Monday due to the absence of some witnesses for the prosecution.

The case came up for trial this morning, but when the State's witnesses had not shown up by this afternoon, Commonwealth Attorney Tolbert Combs asked that the trial be postponed until Monday.

Hall was indicted by the recent Grand Jury.

In other court action this week, a case against Harlan B. Jones for carrying a concealed deadly weapon was filed away.

Clyde Stidham was placed on four year probation after pleading guilty to cutting and wounding with intent to kill and being sentenced to two years in prison.

A Circuit Court jury reversed a Hazard Police Court decision against Kay Moller, worker for the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment, and found

Hazard-Lafayette Tickets Now On Sale In Hazard

Tickets for the Hazard-Lafayette football game are on sale at Hazard Drug, Don's, and Begley Drug. The game will be played on the General's field in Lexington this Friday night at 8:00 p.m.

Under school rules, tickets to Lafayette games can guarantee only standing room because seats are allotted on a first come first served basis and such a notation is made on the tickets. So it would benefit Hazard fans to have their tickets before they arrive at the field.

Tickets cost $1.00 and can be purchased at the above businesses or from Vernon Cooper or Jimmy Baker.

Hazard Vocational School Starts Evening Class

The Hazard Area Vocational School, in cooperation with the Leslie County Board of Education, is starting an evening extension class in Automotive Electricity and Tune-Ups, Monday-October 5, 1964 at 6 p.m.

The class will meet at the Industrial Arts Building, next to the Grade School Building in Hyden.

The class is for upgrading those people already in the Auto Mechanics Field.

Anyone interested in taking this course should contact Mr. Mervin Hamilton at the Diesel Mechanics Class, on Rockhouse, next to the Moore Lumber Co. Phone 672-2646.

Combs Appeals Arcade Decision

Attorneys for Shafter Combs & Son Hardware Store have filed a motion in Perry Circuit Court, asking that a judgment against the firm in the Hazard arcade dispute be set aside.

The motion seeks to reverse a recent decision by Circuit Judge Don A. Ward, who ruled the firm must re-open the Main Street-High Street passway it closed last winter as part of its remodeling and expansion efforts.

The new Combs motion argues that the arcade passway was merely a convenience for pedestrians and "not a way of necessity" for the general public.

The motion further contends that the passway could not be used unless it is lighted and maintained, services which the public did not provide when it had access to it.

The motion mentions as a precedent for its argument the case of Smith vs. Oliver, in which one judge ruled:

"It is more reasonable to conclude that the kind and obliging owner was willing for his neighbors to cross his farm for their convenience, and was willing to maintain the gates so that they might exercise that permissive privilege, with right in himself (the farmer) to discontinue it at pleasure."

The City of Hazard has cited its own legal precedents in its

Faulkner Appointed Chairman

W. Ernest Faulkner, Hazard, Kentucky, has been appointed Chairman of the Graduating Classes of Union College prior to 1911, in the annual Alumni Funds Drive.

Mr. Faulkner is an attorney and counselor at law in the firm of Faulkner and Faulkner. He has been City Attorney of Hazard since 1938.

After receiving his A. B. degree from Union College, Barbourville, Kentucky, in 1907, he went to George Washington University School of Law and received the L.L.B. degree there in 1910. He began his law practice in Barbourville, but moved to Hazard in 1913 and has lived here ever since.

An active member of the Christian Church he has often represented the church at state and national conventions.

The Alumni Association of Union College has as its goal the raising of $15,500 in unrestricted gifts which will be used for the operating expenses of the college. Union College is a four-year liberal arts college, related to the Methodist Church, with an enrollment of 835 students.

Rescue Squad Plan Roadblock To Raise Funds

North and South travelers into and out of Hazard will run into roadblocks Saturday, but have no fear, it is not for police purposes.

The Perry County Volunteer Rescue squad will have members posted at the Woodland Park Bridge and North Main to solicit contributions to help equip their ambulances with functional, new rescue equipment.

A similar drive two years ago helped buy the ambulances of the squad and it is hoped townspeople will donate enough Saturday to defray some of the equipment's cost.

The rescue squad, a non-profit organization and captained by Lawrence "Shorty" Sizemore, is dedicated to lifesaving and rescue missions of any sort and size.

All members are volunteers and each has a certificate from the State of Kentucky and the Federal Mining Bureau certifying their competence in first aid.

Accident Injures Three Men

Three Dwarf residents were slightly injured when their 1957 Oldsmobile veered off rainslickened North Main and smashed into a wall on the left side of the road. See accompanying story for the details.

Three Dwarf Residents Injured Slightly In N. Main Accident

A car accident on North Main Street late Monday night slightly injured three Dwarf residents and badly damaged the car in which they were riding.

Hazard City Police report that a car driven by Harold Childers, suffered facial lacerations. Childers went out of control on rainslickened North Main about 11:20 p.m. Monday as the car passed M. C. Campbell's Standard Service Station.

It veered to the right and hit a stump near the middle home lot, bouncing across the street into a concrete block wall.

The force of the impact knocked the wall down and the car continued across a driveway and into another such wall also knocking it down, but came to a halt in the dirt behind it.

The three men, Childers, James Childers, owner of the

One Day Left For PTA Memberships

The Hazard PTA membership drive will officially end tomorrow and officers of the association urge all parents, teachers, or friends and relatives of students to join the club.

Membership dues will go toward buying playground equipment for the lower and upper grade schools and toward needed library expansions at Hazard High.

The goal of $1,000 will take care of these needs if realized. As of last Friday, approximately half of the goal had been accumulated.

There is only one more day to become a member of the PTA. Please do because it is a worthwhile organization with a worthwhile goal.

Prizes will be awarded to each of the four divisions, Primary, Intermediate, Junior High, and High School, into which Hazard and Hazard High are divided.

First, second, and third place prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be awarded to the rooms in each division, with the highest percentage of regular memberships

Local Scouts Serve In Exhibit

On Scouting At N.Y. World Fair

Ten honor Scouts from Hazard, Pikeville, and Betsy Layne, Kentucky, served for one week at "The Wonderful World of Scouting," at the New York World Fair.

The scouts under the leadership of District Scout Executive, Donald Martin, participated in the Scout Service Corps at the same pavilion.

The boys toured the entire fair, and did various demonstrations and services at the Scouting Pavilion, such as: Guides through the pavilion, demonstration of knot tying, mouth to mouth resuscitation, and bird identification.

The Scout contingent is housed at Fort Totten, New York, located about twenty minutes from the fair site. The boys are able to take advantage of many recreational activities and attend religious services at the fort.

"The Wonderful World of Scouting" is located in the industrial area of the fair on the Avenue of Progress. Colorful displays on every aspect of Scouting are exhibited and explained to many of the 220,000 daily visitors at the fair.

Robert Moses, President of the World's Fair Corporation, said, "The Boy Scouts will be unofficial ambassadors for the youth of the world. To meet this challenge, a member of the Scout Service Corps, represents his 9,000,000 brother Scouts in living up to the Scout Oath, Scout Laws and Scout Motto—"Be Prepared".

Writer Enters Hospital In Lexington

By Louise Brummett

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Asher and daughter, Bonny, of Beverly, were the Saturday afternoon guests of your correspondent and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adkins, of Fredricktown, Ohio, spent a few days with Mrs. Mary Ann Adkins and other relatives here.

James Brummett returned home from Rochelle, Ill., where he was employed by the California Packing and Canning Co.

Your correspondent, her husband, and children, Kenneth R., Brenda and Estill Glenn, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Turner and family at Levi.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the Caudill family in the death of a loved one, Sampa Caudill.

Mr. Cleatus Moore has returned home from Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was employed by a construction company.

Our deepest sincere sympathy goes out to Mrs. O'Donnell and Billy in the death of their husband and father. He was a wonderful person as well as Doctor. We will miss him.

Well, we finally got some long needed rain but we need a lot more.

Well, it is surely fall season. Everyone is talking about p-s-u-m hunting. The possums should be good and fat now.

Your correspondent will return to the University Hospital October 21st in Lexington. I'm not sure if I'll stay or not but I'm supposed to have surgery for kidney and bladder.

PTA Membership Drives Open In Hazard And Area Schools

Each year in the Month of October PTA's invite into PTA Membership all who want to count and be counted on in work for the welfare of children and youth.

This year the invitation will go forth to 47,000 PTA's in cities, towns and rural areas across the United States, to 267 PTA's in Alaska and Hawaii, to 150 PTA's in Europe and other far places. For wherever there are American Mothers and Fathers there will be PTA's.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers Membership Program for 1964-1965 is "be the ME in PTA Membership that Works for All Children and Youth," while that of the Kentucky Congress is "Parents, Teachers, Increase by Five, Join PTA in '65'".

In the PTA there are no barriers to membership. There are no barriers of race, creed, color, occupation or economic status. Membership is open to all who want to do their best to make their community a better growing place for children.

The PTA is a meeting ground for those who believe that schools should be continuously improved, that needed Community services for children and families should be established, and family life should be strengthened.

The PTA is a forum where parents, educators, community leaders, and civic officials can present their views on influences that help or hamper children's wholesome development. It is a place where problems that seem insoluble become manageable through group discussions and study.

In the PTA there is room for dissent as well as assent. It is a democratic organization where the majority rules and the minority is respected.

Mrs. George Feltnier, Buland and Mr. Curtis Spicer, Yerkes, Membership Chairmen of the Tenth District of Kentucky Council, both members of the Dennis C. Wootton Elementary PTA state that there are five main reasons for joining a PTA. They are as following:

1. To learn what research and experience have to teach us about giving our children every chance for healthy and helpful lives, as they grow in the stressful present toward an unpredictable future. 2. To think creatively about using this knowledge to guide children in the ways of moral, physical, and intellectual excellence. 3. To help provide the best possible homes, schools, and communities by

BEN FITZPATRICK

I, for one, am tired of the disdain Central Kentucky sports writers and football teams hold for Hazard football squads. Did you know that Hazard will be an underdog in the Lafayette tussle? That's right, the Bulldogs, with a 5-0 record, are four point underdogs against a team that has won one and lost two.

I just hope the HHS players read this and get steamed up about it, then go down there and beat the heck out of Lafayette and show, in the meantime, that mountain football isn't the pansy that they believe it to be.

This is not to say Lafayette is cocky for the game, but, in all probability they are. I know for sure they have had two weeks to prepare for the tilt and a friend of mine that teaches at their school says the squad has pointed toward this game since the first of the season.

Can't quite understand why a victory over Hazard is so important to Central Kentucky schools, but the fact remains it is.

The Generals, though 1-2, have a good-sized, hard-hitting football eleven and the Dogs can expect a super-charged effort from them in an attempt to uphold what the sports writers call Central Kentucky's football superiority over Mountain football. Somehow, I feel that Hazard will answer this challenge with a "how-sweet-it-is" win.

It's one thing to be an underdog, but it's another to be taken lightly. I know one thing—Lafayette line-men better not take O. J. Rowe, David Olinger, Tom Manning, Junior Walker, Freddy Hogg, and David Stanford lightly, because those boys can land pretty heavy when they want to.

The rain we've had this week has been good for everything but the football team because it has severely limited their practice sessions. Let's hope it doesn't throw their timing off.

Hazard players might be pleased when they roar onto Lafayette's Field Friday night and instead of dust and rocks find nice green grass. I hope they know how to run in grass since they are so used to dirt piles. The change will be good for them and the linemen can dig in deeper than at Collins Field.

Let's get out a big group of people to that ball game. Lexington is not so far and our boys will need our support because there will be a lot of noise against them. Lafayette has close to 2,000 students and if just half of them attend the game, plus adults and the band, there will be a lot of people rooting against HHS. We want the Bulldogs to upset Lafayette and if you do, and can go, by all means, do so.

If you cannot go, however, why not go on down to the pep rally tonight at 8:30 in the parking lot across from the Standard Service Station at the intersection. Really, these boys, this football team have not had the backing it deserves. I have been told that there has been only one pep rally at the high school and it is hard for a team to get up for a game if they don't know for certain that we are backing them. Look how pleased Kentucky was when 20,000 fans greeted them on their return to Lexington. Let's get several hundred down to send the Bulldogs off, don't wait till they come back.

Underdog Hazard Will Battle Four-Point Favorite Lafayette In Lexington Tomorrow Night

Hazard's road-weary Bulldogs hit the travel paths for the fourth consecutive weekend as they journey to Lexington to play the Lafayette Generals Friday night at Lafayette Stadium. For the first time this year, and inexplicably, the undefeated charges of Jack Carey will be underdogs and to a team that has a 1-2 record.

Lafayette has beaten Dunbar 20-19, and lost to Highlands 20-7 and Danville 12-7, but are four point favorites to end the Bulldog winning streak at 11.

For the first time in many years, the Generals are small, with only five players on the roster tipping the scales over 200, and they have played sparingly. Their two big linemen are veteran tackle John Webster, 180, and Tackle Barry Marshall, 175.

Top scoring threat is halfback Teddy Mims, a 150-pound speedster. The generals alternate quarterbacks with Gary Kleime, another 150-pounder doing the passing and John Taylor the running. The largest backfield man is 170-pound back Bob McAllister.

Lafayette's only good effort of the season was in a losing cause to the state's second-ranked Highland Bluebird. All three games have been characterized by fumbles.

The generals have had two weeks to prepare for Hazard and reports are that they fired up for this shot at a mountain team.

Hazard came out of the Belfry game with no serious injuries other than the badly bruised leg of guard David Stanford and are in good shape for the Lexington tussle.

The Canines will open with the same line-up that they have used the past two starts:

E Jimmy Walker
T O.J. Rowe
G David Stanford

End—Freddy Hogg
Leading Scorer

C Gordon Benning
G Tom Manning
T David Olinger
E Freddy Hogg
QB Bill Morgan
HB Houston Hogg
HB Keith Reynolds
FB Freddy Barnett

H. Hogg continues to pace the Dogs in rushing though his average has dropped to 4.8 Reynolds has been coming on strong and several area coaches were impressed with his running in the Belfry game. Morgan has completed 18 of 38 passes of eight touchdowns and is averaging 6.5 yards a carry. The top rushing average belongs to senior half Jerry Combs at 9.1.

Back of the Week

Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton has been named to the National Backfield of the Week for his sterling performance in the Wildcats' upset of the Mississippi Rebels. The 6'1, 193 junior connected on 15 of 30 passes for 254 yards and two touchdowns. He also scored one himself. His chief receiver, Rick Kestner, Belfry, was named the National Lineman of the Week for catching nine passes good for 175 yards and three touchdowns. Both were selected SEC Back and Lineman of the Week respectively. Kentucky goes after sixth-ranked Auburn Saturday night in their quest to break back into big-time football.

Belfry's Pirates Come Off The High Seas To Battle Land-Locked Napier Navajos

Eleven swashbuckling Pirates will run head-on into eleven scalp-lifting Navajos when the Belfry Pirates step out on Napier Field for a Friday night encounter with Ed Wilson's M. C. Napier Navajos.

Belfry, a big, rugged team that extended Hazard to the limit in a 14-13 loss, will be heavy favorites over Napier and HEAVY is not intended as a pun. Al Viperman's Pirates will bring the mountain's biggest line and largest backfield into the battle in an attempt to go back over the 500 mark. The Pirates are 2-2-1. They feature the power running of 195 halfback Frank Guyton and 210 fullback Roy Phillips, and the shifty shakes of Darryl Bogar, a 190-back, who ground out 72 yards against the Dogs.

Napier can counter this only with their one-man hurricane,

Dandy Jim McAlarnis, who has rushed for 390 yards in the Navajos last two games, including 204 against Whitesburg. Napier will probably open with Martin Allen and William Hughes at ends, Ken Finnison and Paul Eversole at tackles, Tommy Brock and Darrell Deaton at guards and Mickey Joe Fields at quarterback, Mac and George Ballard at halfbacks, and Gene Ritchie at fullback.

The young Navajos, losers of five in six starts, have looked very good in their last two outings, and were just unfortunate in the Whitesburg game to run into a multitude of red flags

Lothair Upset By Grapevine, Letcher County Advances To The Finals of East Kentucky Softball Tourney

Letcher County advanced to the finals of the Eastern Kentucky Softball tourney with impressive victories over Jackson by 2-1 and Grapevine by 5-0. Red Kimberry out pitched Roy Smith in the opener as Letcher took a hard fought 2-1 victory. Trailing 1-0, Jackson bunched 3 hits to tie the game 1-1 but 2 hits in the 4th gave Letcher the victory over a strong Jackson nine.

Grapevine surprised Lothair in the second game and upset the local group also by a score of 2-1. Lothair took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a 2 base hit by Gene Smith and walks to Chuck Meade, Punt Olinger, and Pick Rose. Grapevine capitalized on a hit and 2 errors to score their only 2 runs in the 2nd inning. Gene Smith pitched a 2-hitter for Lothair and collected 2 hits and a walk. Pick Rose, Chuck Meade, and Ken Cobb collected the other hits for Lothair. H. Noble and Duff had hits for Grapevine.

Strong fielding support and superb pitching by Red Kimberry gave Letcher a 5-0 white wash victory over Grapevine in the 3rd game vaulting Letcher into the championship game. Grapevine managed only 3 hits off Kimberry who was in complete command. A solid hitting attack paced by Bill Back gave Letcher a hard fought victory. The final round of the Double Elimination tourney is scheduled for Sunday, October 4 with games beginning at 12:00. Lothair and Jackson tangled in the opener at 12:00 with the winner playing Grapevine at 2:00. The winner of the 2nd game then plays Letcher County for the championship at 4:00. Presentation of trophies will follow the championship game. A large crowd was on hand Sunday and an even larger group is expected for the final day's action.

Year's most talked-about new cars

'65 Chevrolet Impala

It's '65's biggest, most beautiful change. There's striking new styling. New length, width and lowness. A roomier new Body by Fisher housing an interior that's a knockout. And a more serene Jet-smooth ride with a new Full Coil suspension system. Fact is, if you overlook just one thing you can easily convince yourself you're onto a big expensive car here. And that thing is its Chevrolet price.

'65 Corvair Corsa

There's never been anything like it from either side of the Atlantic. There's new thin-line hardtop styling for all closed models. More length and width, more entrance and shoulder room in all models. And a higher powered range of engines—with up to 180 hp available in the top-of-the-line Corsas. How sporty can a car get? Your dealer's got the Corvair that'll show you.

Hazard Man, Richard Goodlette Is Affiliated With Miller's Firm

Ad Miller, President of Ad Miller Associates, Inc., announced today that Richard (Dick) Goodlette is to become affiliated with Miller's real estate firm as of October 1.

Goodlette served as a member of the Board of Collier County Commissioners for four years from 1957 to 1961. It was during this period that Collier County began its accelerated population growth, and the Commissioners faced many challenges including the unexpected problems created by Hurricane Donna. In recognition of his services, Goodlette Road, on the eastern periphery of the City, was named in his honor. He came to Naples ten years ago as manager of the local radio station WNOG. Born in Hazard, Ky., and educated in Bowling Green, he was co-owner of a radio station in Hazard before moving to Florida in 1954. When the ownership of WNOG changed hands, Goodlette joined the Dewey Polly organization. He also took active interest in civic matters.

The possessor of a fine baritone voice, Goodlette sang in the choir of the First Christian Church, and participated in amateur theatricals. He appeared in Naples Players' production of "HMS Pinafore" and in several non-musical plays. Goodlette will serve as Sales Manager and Administrative Assistant to Ad Miller. "To say that I am delighted at the prospect of having Dick Goodlette as one of my chief associates is to understate my feelings," Miller said. "Naturally, our activities are expanding with the growth of the city and this area, and Dick's experience and his thorough knowledge and enthusiasm for Naples and surrounding territory, which came about through his years in the real estate business and as a County Commissioner, promises to be of tremendous value to me and my organization."

Attendance At Rally Day Is 234; Lothair Revival Closes Saturday

By Mrs. Sam Ferguson

A revival is in progress at Community Presbyterian Church at Lothair. The evangelist is Rev. Larry Kennon, of Bristol, Tenn. The meeting will close Saturday night, October 3.

A "Rally Day" Program was given at Community Church Sunday morning with different groups taking part, including several adults. We had 234 present.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Nellie Combs is a patient in Mount Mary Hospital. We are missing her at Sunday School and Church.

Elizabeth Ferguson and Billy Rison, who are employed in West Liberty, visited Mr. and Mrs. Finnie Ferguson Sunday. They were driving a 1964 Ford. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Barker and family, of Newport, visited Mr. and Mrs. Brown Campbell Saturday and Sunday. Jimmy Campbell who had been visiting the Barkers, returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clark, of Lothair, had as their dinner guests Thursday night, Dr. and Mrs. Brantley, Dr. Marcus, Dr. Steinman, Misses Mary Beth Sammons, Sallie Hill and Joyce Burchett. The Clarks moved to Lothair recently from Glomawr. Radioman Frank Sizemore, stationed in Norfolk, Virginia, visited his wife and son, of Harlan, and his mother, Mrs. Jody Ritchie, Mr. Ritchie, and family, over the weekend. Eddie Brown, of Hazard, was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Helton, and Patty, Sunday.

LOTHAIR Eugene Riley Home Due To Death

By Frances McCarty

Miss Margie McCarty, of Chicago, Illinois, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCarty, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Othel Cox and son, from Cincinnati, Ohio, have been visiting his mother, Mrs. Sam Cox, and his brother, Mr. A. J. Cox, and family.

Third Class Petty Officer Mr. Eugene Riley is home due to the death of his grandfather, Mr. Jerry Riley, of Hardburly. Mr. and Mrs. Rile Stidham, of Hyden, visited Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Donner, and Sandy, over the weekend.

Mrs. Beverly Weeks, of Dayton, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Smith, and Tim, over the weekend.

Rains Curtail Forest Fire Hazards

Recent rains have brought forest fire conditions from a high danger point back to normal, but Kentucky's official fall fire season still begins October 1.

State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick said more than an inch of rain in Western and Southeastern Kentucky and a little under an inch in Eastern Kentucky had reduced the fire "build-up index" from nearly 100 to almost zero. "It would take either a heavy frost or continual sunshine from now until about October 4 to wipe out the help brought by the rain," he said.

Matlick said some of the observers in key fire towers, sent to their posts around the middle of September — a month ahead of schedule — are still maintaining their watch, but several have been brought back down.

"We will probably be able now to wait until October 15, the normal starting date, to fill the rest of the towers," he added.

State Forestry Director Gene Butcher pointed out that several regulations in the Kentucky statutes are in force during the official fire season from October 1 through December.

Butcher asked all Kentuckians to observe these regulations and to be very cautious during the next three months with fires, cigarettes and matches in and around woodlands.

Hazard Boy Registers at University At Sewanee, Tenn. College of Arts

Elmer Clarence Maggard is among the 788 students from 37 states and five foreign countries who have registered at the University of the South's College of Arts and Sciences for the current academic year. This enrollment, the largest in the 107-year history of the school, reflects the policy of adding gradually to the student body until the number reaches 1500 in about ten years. A cut-off to two colleges sharing major resources is contemplated when a feasible point is reached.

Only twenty per cent (154) of the students come from Tennessee, with Nashville the leading city, contributing 27. Jacksonville, Florida, is next with 24. Chattanooga and Atlanta are tied with 16 each, and Charleston, S. C., has sent 15 of its young men. There are ten students from Connecticut and six from California, three from Maine, eight from Illinois, and seven from Kansas. The foreign countries represented are Brazil, India, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, and Switzerland.

Seventy-four men entered the School of Theology. Returning students will find some changes on the 10,000-acre forested mountain top domain of the university, which is owned and operated by 21 Southern dioceses of the Episcopal Church. The Jessie Ball duPont Library is near completion. Other construction includes the Cleveland Annex, connecting Science Hall and Walsh-Elliott Hall, and adding much-needed space to the science building. The Charlotte Patten Guerry indoor tennis courts adjacent to Juhan Gymnasium will attract many students. New University-owned housing brings to 48 the number of sandstone dwellings at moderate rentals to faculty and married students. Departments of psychology and Russian are new this year, and a National Science Foundation grant have

Governor Proclaims Child Health Day Monday, October 5

Governor Edward Breathitt has issued a proclamation designating October 5 as Child Health Day in Kentucky, stressing the importance of promoting the well-being of Kentucky children.

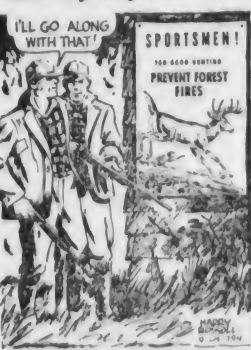

The proclamation emphasizes the need to assure the future strength of our nation and state by protecting the health of today's children. Child Health Day provides the opportunity to salute and recognize all work which is being done to further the health of our children.

In Kentucky, those programs which are designated to protect and develop the health of all children include State and county supported well-baby, prenatal, and pediatric clinics, clinics for the mentally retarded, and programs of continuous health supervision, accident prevention, nutrition, and hearing and vision conservation in the schools.

Dr. Russell E. Teague, State Commissioner of Health, says that this is an appropriate time to emphasize that one of the most effective ways of protecting the health of our children is to immunize against the diseases which most often threaten them, such as diphtheria, whooping cough, smallpox, tetanus, and polio.

The responsibility for controlling many childhood diseases lies with the parents. It is they who can see that effective immunization is carried out. In observance of Child Health Day, the Kentucky State Department of Health wishes to encourage the immunization of all infants, pre-school, and school-age children against childhood diseases. The future of the State and nation depends upon the emotional, mental, and physical health of the children of today.

ARH Patient Usage And Occupancy Increases

Appalachian Regional Hospitals, the non-profit organization created to rescue 10 hospitals in behalf of their communities, reports that more people are using their facilities and prospects for the future are encouraging.

This was the summation of a review of ARH's first year of operation provided at a conference at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington, Kentucky, last week.

Dr. Karl S. Klicka, president of ARH, said the hospitals have reached a break-even point in revenue and would be in the black at the close of this fiscal year if the number of patients occupying the hospitals can be increased to normal levels. In August there was an average of 745 patients a day as compared with 680 in August, 1963.

While the system of hospitals in Eastern Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia still has financial problems, Dr. Klicka and Garvice D. Kincaid, Lexington financier and chairman of ARH's 25-member board of trustees, expressed confidence in its future.

Mr. Kincaid told the conference in an appraisal of ARH's financial needs that while additional funds were needed, "I think that with the understanding of the state government and the cooperation of the federal government, we can continue to operate these hospitals."

Dr. Klicka reported that he was encouraged by prospects of obtaining a grant of $15 million under the Appalachian Re-development Program.

He said the grant money would be used to pay off a $700,000 short term loan from United Mine Workers and erase a $191,000 deficit from operations last year.

The additional money, Dr. Klicka said, "will also strengthen our operating position and help meet other debt requirements."

"Once our debts are paid, the hospitals can pay their own way with income from operations supplemented by contributions from foundations and private industry," he said.

The ARH president noted that hospital accounts receivable had increased to over $1.5 million and said they should increase for several more months before they level off at about $1,750,000.

ARH's initial year of operation was reviewed to 75 representatives of institutions, agencies and organizations interested in development of the voluntary hospital system. They included the Commonwealth of Kentucky, University of Kentucky, Kentucky State Medical Association, United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; United Mine Workers of America, University of Louisville, and the state hospital associations of Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Dr. James Holloway, Lexington surgeon and chairman of a KSMA committee on relationship with ARH, urged "patients and moderation" in working out ARH's problems. "Helping the people of Eastern Kentucky," he added, "will take a good deal of give and take and continued wisdom."

Dr. Klicka assured physicians at the conference that "I am 100 per cent against the corporate practice of medicine, and I want no truck with socialized medicine."

Dr. George Archer of Prestonsburg, President of the Kentucky State Medical Association, had cautioned ARH that ethics of the American Medical Association forbid hospitals to practice medicine. Previously the hospitals had physicians on their payrolls but under ARH all these physicians are operating as private practitioners.

The medical staffs of some ARH hospitals told the conference that they needed additional medical interns.

Kentucky Businessmen Start Better Roads Council, Inc.

Kentucky bankers, publishers, farmers and others are joining hands here this week to start rolling Kentucky's newest state-wide organization—the Better Roads Council, Inc.

When offices are open at 465 E. High Street the council will end ten months of preliminary work. Officially, the group got underway when incorporation papers were filed last February with the Secretary of State.

Those legal documents called for a non-profit organization to carry on a program of education to stimulate the construction of modern highways throughout the Commonwealth.

First directors also were named and included eight leading Kentuckians, seven of whom were past presidents of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. The eighth incorporator, Harper Gatton, was formerly executive vice president of the same organization. Today Mr. Gatton heads up, on a part time basis, the Madisonville Chamber of Commerce.

Early last summer the incorporators and a dozen other leading citizens gathered to elect officers and Harry Huether, Lexington, retired chairman of the board of the General Telephone Company of Kentucky, was named the council president.

Other officers include Glen Weinman, secretary of the Blue Grass Automobile Club Association, executive vice president. Secretary will be John Koon, Louisville, long-time executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. Richard Cooper, Somerset, general manager of the Somerset Stone Company, was elected treasurer.

Vice presidents include a good cross section of Kentucky's leadership. Smith Broadbent, farmer of Cadiz; Norman Chrisman, Pikeville insurance broker; Maurice Henry, Mid-dleshore publisher; Dewey Daniel, Hazard, banker; Thomas A. Ballantine, Louisville, attorney and industrialist; Ernest Mitchell, Covington, retired utility company executive, and Mr. Gatton.

Cooper Speaks On Bill For Appalachia

"I am very glad that the Senate today passed the Appalachian Regional Development Bill and did so by an overwhelming and decisive vote. It received a majority of both the Democratic and Republican Senators voting, which shows that the debate in the Senate established the essential soundness of the Bill. "The Development Program authorized by the bill will help meet the basic requirements of the area for roads and airports, vocational schools and health facilities. It will put local resources to good use through the growth of private industry, necessary for the development of any area. I believe the Bill will prove very effective in Eastern Kentucky and the entire Appalachian Region." In 1959 I introduced a bill to assist the development of Eastern Kentucky since that time we have worked, together with the Governors of the states, carefully developing over a period of four years the program and the bill adopted by the Senate today.

"Since January 1, 1964, the social security office in Hazard has taken 410 claims for disability payments from workers in the 8 county area served by our office," commented John Graves, Hazard District Manager. "This averages a little over 10 claims every single week, and," Graves noted, "is almost as many claims as we take for old-age and death payments combined. Since disability benefits are so important in this area it might be wise to take time and space in this column to discuss disability and social security."

A worker must have 5 years of social security earnings in the 10 year period before he becomes disabled. He must have a disability that is total and permanent in nature, not partial or temporary. He must be unable to do any work within his age, education, and past experience, and not be just unable to do his last regular work. "If he qualifies, disability benefits can be paid to a worker at any age, even 28, 37, or 49," Graves noted, "and payments can also be made to family members such as, wives and small children. Disability payments are not made after a worker is 65. He then qualifies for old-age payments instead."

Each worker who files a disability claim must submit reports from doctors or hospitals who have treated him. "Social security does not have its own doctors," Graves stated. "In some cases," Graves continued, "if we do not have enough medical evidence to decide one way or another, we do have authority to ask the worker to be examined by doctors selected by the State of Kentucky and various medical societies, and social security does pay for this. In most cases, though, the evidence the worker submits is enough for a decision." The final decision on a disability claim is mailed to the worker from the Social Security Division of Disability Operations in Baltimore, Maryland. If approved, checks are mailed from the Treasury Department. At present 2396 disability claimants and members of their families in Perry County alone receive $100,791 per month under the Social Security Disability Program.

"If you have questions regarding disability benefits, or any phase of social security, we invite you to phone (436-3148), write, or visit this office at 135 Memorial Drive in Hazard," Graves concluded.

EDITORIAL

Appalachian Bill Beneficial

Perhaps the most significant aspect of the Appalachian Recovery Bill recently passed by the Senate is that, in the words of Kentucky Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper, the bill is "not a crash program" to provide more relief for the unemployed.

Many local citizens have been against the Appalachian Bill because they feared it was just another "hand-out" program, a method of giving away easy money to perpetuate the idleness of individuals who, in their opinion, are just too lazy to work.

But a study of the particulars of the new bill should allay such fears. Everyone in Appalachia, and, ultimately, the whole nation stands to benefit from the bill if it clears further Congressional hurdles and becomes law.

The outstanding feature of the $1 billion program is a vast road-building plan. Over the next five years, 2,350 miles of developmental highways are scheduled for construction or improvement, roads that will literally split Appalachia wide open and put it in intimate highway communication with the rest of America.

One road with high re-building priority under provisions of the bill is US 119 from Pike County, across Pine Mt., at Whitesburg, down the Cumberland Valley to Pineville in Bell County. Other Kentucky roads to be improved, rebuilt or relocated with assistance from the Appalachian Bill are Route 80 west of London, US 25-E from Middlesboro to Pineville, Route 127 in the Albany-London area, and Route 23 near Ashland.

Second to the US 119 improvements in importance to the Hazard area will be the accelerated extension of the Mountain Parkway from Jackson to Whitesburg. The State Highway Department has said it is ready to get to work immediately on that project once new federal funds become available. Completion of the Parkway might otherwise be delayed for years.

There are several other features of the bill, including millions for construction of health facilities, vocational training, timber development, and sewage treatment facilities to relieve stream pollution. But conspicuously missing from this legislation are further handouts to individuals. Those opposed to such handouts can support the Appalachian Bill in good conscience, because The Bill is designed to prevent that very thing. It is designed to help Appalachia overcome its present general problems so that individual enterprise can thrive here as it does in the rest of America. Appalachia is now a burden on America. America's investment in Appalachia, through the bill now pending in Congress, will be well rewarded if the region is helped back on its feet until the dole and the handout will become unnecessary.

The Governor Speaks

By Edward T. Breathitt

Last week I dedicated a new lake—the Barren River Reservoir in Southern Kentucky and the Barren-Allen County line.

This is a U.S. Corps of Engineers project, costing about $24.5 million for the dam and reservoir. In seasonal pool the lake will cover some 10,000 acres. That's a lot of water for boaters, fishermen and others who will use this great lake for recreational purposes in the years to come. And this is just one of several new lakes finished or being constructed in Kentucky by the Corps or under our own "chain-of-lakes" program.

Kentucky has more miles of running water than any state except Alaska. There are presently seven additional Corps of Engineers dams or reservoirs under construction and three in the planning stages. And there are 12 completed projects in the "chain-of-lakes" program with seven others in various construction and planning stages. These will add even more miles of water to Kentucky.

The importance of these lakes to our economy and to the conservation of Kentucky's many natural resources cannot be stressed too much. As I have already indicated, recreational use alone will bring many more tourists in the state, adding greatly to the business of those who deal with tourists—restaurant, motel and hotel operators, service station owners, and local merchants, and the employees of all of them.

Secondly, these new man-made lakes add to our industrial prospects. They offer new and replenishable sources of water to industries thinking about moving to Kentucky. Industry requires water just as much as it needs highways, railroads and mineral resources.

With the state seeking 75,000 new jobs, a chain-of-lakes system of these structures is of the utmost importance. Even construction on the dams alone adds new jobs for Kentuckians.

Most important, however, is the fact that

BOOK REVIEW

All books reviewed in this column are available at the Bobby Davis Memorial Library.

"Ulysses"

by James Joyce

Banned in the United States at one time because of its alleged obscenity, "Ulysses" is now generally considered one of the great and original novels of our time. The present edition contains the complete and unabridged text. It is the story of one day in the life of a Dublin man, through whose eyes the whole town and its people come alive.

"The Longest Day"

by Cornelius Ryan

The story of D-Day from which the movie of the same title was filmed, "The Longest Day" is called it "superb, gripping, more exciting than any novel." Mr. Ryan, who covered the landings on June 6, 1944 as a war correspondent, writes not a military history but a story of people. "One of the most exciting and illuminating books out of World War II." The text is supplemented by photographs.

one of the primary purposes of these new structures is flood-control. The need for flood-control is unquestionably the first criteria examined when any potential project is requested or investigated.

There is no doubt that Kentucky needs these flood-control projects. Last spring, ram-paging waters caused damages estimated at $32 million. During the height of the floods, President Lyndon B. Johnson came to Kentucky to personally inspect the damage, and we flew, along with four other governors, over the ravaged Ohio River Valley. We saw the widespread destruction caused by floods, and later the President made Federal funds available to Kentucky to help repair the public facilities that were damaged.

A great deal of this financial disaster and untold human misery could be avoided. The State Department of Natural Resources reported to me in May that if the current Corps of Engineers flood control proposals for Kentucky were authorized by Congress, financed and completed within 10 years, the state would escape major flooding in the future. This includes not only new dams and lakes, but various other projects such as floodwalls and stream channel improvement. Happily, President Johnson recently signed a bill authorizing funds for all but two projects we requested.

The proposed projects could be completed within 10 years, officials of the Natural Resources department told me, if they were pushed forward now. This would leave only a "polishing up" job to control minor flooding, much of which can be accomplished through our own "chain-of-lakes" program.

The structures already built have served the state well, and have proved their importance when we are besieged by high waters. Though the March floods caused $32 million in damages, the total would have been an estimated $56 million without the existing dams, floodwalls, and levees—including the 12 dams that have been completed under the "chain-of-lakes" program.

I hope Kentucky can build more lakes, where they are needed—whether they're the large Corps of Engineers projects or the smaller links in our own "chain." If the proposed $176 million bond issue that goes on the ballot in November 1965 is approved by the people, I have asked that $1 million from it be set aside for small lakes development. With this we can build the still needed dams and reservoirs to supply enough water for towns, farmers, industry, tourists and sportsmen, and protect them from too much water.

IN THE TRUE SPIRIT OF COLUMBUS

Face Of A Town

By BEN FITZPATRICK

In all probability, this will be the last article I write for the Herald because a good friend of all of us has offered me a job at a substantial cut in pay and since few people refuse this offer, neither will I. The friend is, of course, the United States Army.

This article is more of an open letter to the residents of Hazard than anything and I hope you read it closely and think on it a little while.

This is not about Willie Dawahare, but his name comes up first on the list. As all of us know, there are two sharply divided camps in the city when his name is mentioned; one for, one against. That really doesn't matter. What matters is how much the man has done for this town.

He has devoted every bit of his energy and much of his time over the past years for Hazard, not for himself, but for Hazard. He has a dream of a great city, prosperous, beautiful, with appropriate recreational facilities for its children. Is this wrong? People call Willie pushy—sure he is pushy, but if he wasn't, Hazard would not have come as far as it has.

There are a lot of things that our leadership cadre leaves desired because they either refuse to cooperate or think together. They seem to fear someone might get credit for something or there might not be a profit in it. We can do without these people because they only hurt our chances.

What we need are men like Willie, Bill Gorman, R. G. Eversole, C. L. "Jitter" Fouts, Tom Whisman, and others of this high calibre to formulate and plan together to give this community the dynamic leadership that the new acts of legislature require.

You know, this could be a prosperous community not just for the chiefs, but for the citizens. All it will take is guts, sweat, and patience—guts because those who would try to make our community progressive will have to buck strong financial interests, sweat because the cooperation and planning that go into such a growing up process are plain hard work and patience because the changes and plans and proposals that go into progress take time and time and time.

I'll be leaving Hazard shortly to do my part in serving the country I respect and love because it gave me the opportunity to be a free American with the chance to make good if the ambition is there. It is, but let me ask this of Hazard—Our city is on the threshold of a new era with the same chance and opportunity to make good, to grow and prosper and progress, but do we have the ambition and the courage to try, or are we willing to remain status quo?

I, for one, think the ambition, however, latent, is here. Find it, dig it out, polish it, improve it, and use it for the betterment of the community.

"Circus With Flowers" Says Thanks

Hazard, Kentucky
September 15, 1964

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nolan
The Hazard Herald
Hazard, Kentucky
Dear Friends:

Publicity is the heart of any successful undertaking by any organization, and this proved to be no exception in the wonderful reception of "Circus With Flowers", which was presented by the Mountain View Garden Club and The Perry County Garden Club at Convention Hall, La Citedelle Motel on Saturday and Sunday, September 12th and 13th.

THE HAZARD HERALD was most gracious in allowing us so much space to advertise our Flower Show which brought so much pleasure to those who had the opportunity of viewing the many hundreds of Horticulture Specimens, as well as the beautiful arrangements in the Artistic Division.

We would add our thanks to Mrs. Joan Hall for announcing the show in her new column "It's a Woman's World".

Again we thank you for the splendid cooperation we have received, not only for Circus With Flowers but past favors as well.

Mrs. Glenn Reynolds,
General Chairman

EDITORIAL

Hazard's Rebuttal

In refuting the claims of a Whitesburg Mountain Eagle editorial to the effect that Hazard does not want outside help in solving its legitimate problems, perhaps the simplest way is to point to our editorial across the page which endorses the Appalachian Bill now pending in the House of Representatives.

The bill is only the most recent example of how Hazard and Perry County have benefitted from help of the federal government, through cooperation of state and local agencies. No sensible person will deny that Perry County needed the Buckhorn Dam or that Perry 'Countians, acting alone, could never have gotten it built. The same holds true of the Buckhorn Lodge, the coming Carr's Fork Reservoir, Hazard's completed urban renewal projects, the public housing project in Walkertown, and the elaborate road cut through the mountain to Combs that eventually will be the path of an extended Mountain Parkway. Acting strictly "locally," none of these worthwhile projects would have come into being.

Communities of America are today more intimately involved with each other's problems than ever before, due to the nature of those problems and the almost miraculous advances in communications. Unemployment in Perry County is not just Perry County's problem. It is the problem of all America because hundreds of other communities from Detroit to Los Angeles are beset with it also, and for largely the same reason: automation. Automation is a mammoth problem, a national problem, one that will require the efforts of the entire nation to deal with.

By the same token, the people of Hazard and Perry County do not reject every service and facility of the federal and state governments just because they are not "local" as the Mountain Eagle implies. No one here is going to refuse to swim in Buckhorn Lake because it was built by federal funds, or to drive on the Mountain Parkway because state bonds financed its construction. It is too late in the twentieth century for that kind of thinking. Obviously in many instances, higher government is far better equipped for some functions than local government. Who, for instance, can complain against federal inspection of meats sold in interstate commerce, except, perhaps, those who would pawn off spoiled and inferior products on an unsuspecting public? What would Hazard businessmen have done after the 1957-1963 floods had it not been for federal provision of loans to small, local businesses? And who in Perry County will argue against Kentucky's Minimum Foundation program that provides 90 per cent of our county school expenses? Clearly, in many instances, the often-feared "big" governments can do more toward protecting the rights, comfort and freedom of a local community far better than that community could do on its own.

But this acknowledged need of outside governmental aid in such cases does not preclude doing anything for oneself, either. Neither does it diminish by a single degree the pride we are justified in feeling toward locally accomplished projects. The Mountain Eagle would have the reader think that even LaCitedelle is owned by "a man who is really an outsider." L. O. Davis, principal owner of the mountaintop motel is about as "Hazard" as you can get. The son of one of the founders of what has become modern Hazard, Mr. Davis grew up here. His list of contributions to the community is long, perhaps headed by his generous gift to the city of Bobby Davis Memorial Park, whose principal feature is the public library. The library is maintained largely by Hazard taxpayers.

The Eagle cites the new Social Security Administration building and the Perry County Health Center as other examples of "outside" help for this community. The Social Security building was constructed and is now owned by Howard Chappel and Mrs. Mazie Phillips, both of Hazard. The Social Security Administration merely rents the building. The Health Center was financed largely by bonds approved by Perry County voters who are now in the process of retiring them with local taxes. The Eagle editorial didn't mention a further example of local initiative, but we will: Memorial Gymnasium, erected by funds raised through local donation.

The list could go on, but the point is made: we acknowledge our gratitude to those "outside" agencies who have contributed to growth in Hazard area while at the same time we proclaim our pride in those accomplishments brought about by local initiative.

The Mountain Eagle concluded its editorial by saying it hoped Hazard complained against the "outsiders" enough to drive them on to Letcher County. We conclude ours by saying that if the Eagle is talking about the same "outsiders" we talked about in an earlier editorial, then, as we said last week, Letcher County is welcome to them.

Good Doctor Passes On

Again the sad task of speaking for our community on the death of one of its outstanding citizens is upon us. Every one who knew Bill O'Donnell liked and respected the man.

Not only was he a healer, a dedicated man of a noble profession, but he was a man devoted to his people, his community and their future.

Bill O'Donnell was a relatively young man at his death and we feel this entire section has lost years of beneficial and needed service.

He came to us as a 28-year-old doctor with a brilliant educational career and a tour of duty in the Armed Services behind him.

This youth, this exuberance he had for life and all its joys seemed to stay with him until his death—and it was this very exuberant energy that gave him faith in the future of Hazard and his dedication to help its citizens.

He was instrumental in founding the Hazard Clinic and all of us know just how important that is to our city and county. He was a first-rate doctor and a surgeon in a region of few such people. Like all our fine doctors, he was overworked, but never ceased helping others.

But it was not only his humanitarianism that made Bill an outstanding citizen; there was his faith, his hope in the progressive future of his region. He was one of the original investors in the the Town House Motel and the La Citedelle when there was absolutely nothing but faith to justify such buildings.

We are sad that he is gone. Men like Bill O'Donnell are too few and far between to lose.

College Degree Essential

More and more working people now have college degrees. It has become as necessary to get a good job as a high school degree was a decade or two ago. The result is that the difference in incomes of college and high school graduates has been increasing in startling fashion.

A report of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan compares these differences even in the span of five years. In 1956-57, the average family head with a college degree earned $8,500 a year, $3,400 more than the typical high school graduate. In 1961-62, the college graduate averaged $11,070 a year, $5,330 more than the typical high school graduate.

There are other compensations in a college degree but these income differences should be enough to persuade parents to make every effort to give their children the advantage of high education if they can possibly make the grade. The present emphasis on automation and research as well as the elimination of many unskilled jobs is going to make it more and more necessary to get all the education possible to insure the future of the youngsters with the will and necessary brain power.

Agent Explains Preparing Of Compost Pile

Paul Keen — County Agricultural Agent

Preparing a Compost Pile: Autumn is the time to start thinking about making compost. Leaves are the principal element used; however, such materials as lawn clippings, vegetable and fruit refuse and other waste materials are suitable and may be used throughout the year. As the leaves drop, they may be raked and compounded in an enclosure that is surrounded by woven wire or some material which will hold them in place. Proceed as follows:

1. For an acre 80 square feet, which would be a rectangular plot 8 X 10 feet, place a layer of loose leaves, 2 feet deep, on the ground of the enclosure. For a smaller compost plot, reduce the size accordingly.

2. Add 10 pounds of superphosphate and three or four pounds of sulfate of ammonia. If sulfate of ammonia is not available, use 1½ pounds of ammonium nitrate. You may use 20 lbs. 4-12-8 or 6 12 12 fertilizers or its equivalent.

3. Add another layer of loose leaves, 2 feet deep, then tramp thoroughly.

4. Add the phosphate and ammonium nitrate in the same amount as before, and continue making the layers, using 2 feet of leaves and tramping them after the first layer has been put down. Build the pile as high as the sides of the enclosure will permit.

5. In the late winter or early spring, turn the compost in the pile several times to hasten the decomposition of the leaves. A compost pile that is 3 to 5 feet high when completed, will provide excellent material to supplement soil for use in connection with flowers and ornamental plants the following spring and summer.

Tobacco Plant Beds:

Fall treated plant beds will pay off next spring! Listed below are some tips:

1. If diseases were present in old plant bed select a new site. Select a deep and fertile soil with a southern or south eastern exposure and in open field.

2. Plow the soil now or at least two weeks before treatment. Plowing eliminates air pockets and brings weed seeds to surface. Work soil thoroughly.

3. Apply treatment against weeds this fall - September or early October. Use one of the following: Burning Methyl bromide (gas), Vapam or Mylone. Soil temperature should be at least 50 degrees F., before treatment. Methyl bromide gas treatment is excellent to kill weed seed but will not kill white clover seed.

4. Ditch bed thoroughly to cut down entrance of weed seed by surface drainage.

Fall treated beds require less watering in spring and is more satisfactory than treating beds in spring.

Circulars titled "Treatment of Plant Beds with Methyl Bromide" and "Tobacco Plant Beds Management" can be obtained at County Extension Office. Call 438-2044.

Dodge comes on big for '65

What does Dodge do after two record-breaking years in a row? Go for a third. Dodge comes on big for '65, with four brand-new cars that are big, quick, fresh and backed by the strongest warranty* in the business. See them.

'65 Dodge

DODGE DIVISION CHRYSLER MOTORS CORPORATION

'65 DART: The Dodge-size compact. If you'd like to live a little, we'd like to let you in on something big—Dodge Dart for '65. Big beauty. Big comfort. Big ride. And big savings. At your Dodge dealer's now.

'65 POLARA: Beautiful way to leave the low-price field. Inches bigger and a lot better-looking than anything near the price. With a standard 383 cu. in. V8 that thrives on regular gas. Why settle for less? Ask for Polara.

'65 CORONET: A hot new Dodge at a new lower price. An all-new car that's as roomy as a standard-size Ford or Chevy, yet priced right with Fairlane, Chevelle. With refreshing new styling. Oceans of room. Coronet '65—drive it.

'65 CUSTOM 880: If elegance were spelled in numbers, this would be it. From exclusive 6-window sedan to elegant convertible, this one will wear well with your appreciation of luxury and your sense of good taste.

*HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

BUSY

Paul Hoskins Continues Schooling; Jehovah Witnesses Visit In Busy

By W. R. Williston

Attendance at the Christian Church and Sunday School Sunday was 38; the offering was $15.12.

Sunday evening there were quite a few of our church members gathered at Brother and Sister Mike Garbits for services. We really had a good meeting.

Our dinner guest Sunday was our daughter, Jane Combs and our visitors were Jenny Engle, Eva Campbell, Judy Combs, Nancy Wooton, Malvery Osborne, Brenda Stidham, Elhanon and Opal Morgan, and Esther Stidham and children.

Our visitors Saturday were Betty West and Myrna Rinier.

We have also had two Jehovah Witnesses in Busy through-out the past week. One of them, Mrs. Sharon Misterfield, visited us. She seemed to be a real nice person.

Paul Hoskins, Jr. returned to Busy from Indiana Friday night, where he had been working. He said he was starting back in school this week. He is a Senior but has missed the first six weeks of school.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wooton from down Campbell's way were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howard, over the weekend.

Rev. Jim Jackson has a contract to place blocks under the home of Mrs. Bertha Hoskins and is working on it this week.

NAPFOR

Napfor Residents Saddened By Death of Hazard Physician, Dr. O'Donnell

By Mrs. Maude Baker

There will be church services held at the Napfor Church of God October 11. Everyone is invited to attend.

Church will be held at the Grapevine Baptist Church October 4. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Gibson served dinner Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Gilbert, of Buckhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Manning, and three children, of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gibson and son Rickey, of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Gibson, of Buckhorn, and Mr. and Mrs. Cash Gibson and four children, of Napfor.

Mr. and Mrs. Yancey Amis, of Buckhorn, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, over the weekend. Mrs. Earl Campbell has undergone surgery at the Mount Mary Hospital. All her many friends and neighbors wish her a speedy recovery.

Junior Campbell, of Chicago, Ill., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruly Campbell, over the weekend.

Folks everywhere were saddened last week when they heard of the death of Dr. W. F. O'Donnell, who had served the people while he was here. He leaves a host of friends to mourn his passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Williams and children, of Chicago, Illinois, is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruly Campbell.

Sgt. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, Jr., of Fort Knox, were here over the weekend visiting his sister, Mrs. Earl Campbell, who is ill.

Mrs. Howell Johnson has returned home after visiting her son, Poole, at Fort Knox.

Riley J. Collins

In Navy Exercises

Riley J. Collins, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Gladys Collins of Blue Grass, Hazard, Ky., is participating in a training operation called "Exercise Union Square" off the coast of California while serving aboard the destroyer USS Hamner.

The exercise is designed to increase the combat readiness of Pacific Fleet units in strike, anti-aircraft and anti-submarine warfare. Eighteen surface ships, two submarines and several air units are participating in the operation.

Training operations of this type are held periodically to increase the combat readiness of fleet units.

VA Questions And Answers

Q—What evidence of payment of just debts or expenses of last illness and burial should the widow send VA?

A—The widow's certified statement showing the nature, amount, date and person or firm to whom such payments were made will be accepted as evidence of payment unless records later received raise doubt as to the validity of her statement.

Q—I am a peacetime veteran with service-connected injuries from an auto accident. I have loss of use of my left limb. Am I eligible for the VA allowance of $1,600 toward the purchase of an automobile?

A—No. This benefit is provided for wartime veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict periods.

Q—My Government Life Insurance policy has a loan value. How much can I borrow? Would it be to my advantage to surrender the policy for a greater amount of money than the loan value?

A—You may borrow 94 percent of the cash reserve of your policy. This is indicated in the table in the policy. Once your Government Life Insurance policy has been cash surrendered, there is no more insurance of this type available to you.

CHRISTOPHER

Larry Fritts Kills First Squirrel With New Gun

By Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Sr.

The dinner given by the ladies of the Lothair Methodist Church Friday evening proved quite a success. Friends from Hazard and Combs were among those present. The amount realized exceeded our expectations. We take this privilege of thanking one and all who contributed in any way to this cause.

A revival meeting is scheduled to begin at the church Monday evening, October 5. Everyone is invited to attend these services. "In unity, there is strength". Let us all, regardless of faith or creed, pray and work that much good may be accomplished in the town of Lothair.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keith, of Quicksand, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Byrd, visited Mrs. Keith and Mr. Byrd's mother, in Inman, Virginia, Friday. "Grandmother" Byrd, as she is known to many of her friends, is 93 years old.

Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Jr. and children, Karen, Larry and Robin, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Sr., Thursday evening. Larry was celebrating his fifteenth birthday. He received a small shotgun as a gift. Saturday morning Larry went on his first real hunting trip with his grandad. To his delight, he killed his first squirrel.

Mrs. Don Warren and children, of Walkertown, were luncheon guests of Mrs. Zola Warren and family Sunday.

The new "Supermarket" that is being erected by the Combs brothers is nearing completion. We wish great success for the boys in their new venture.

Mrs. Patricia Brewer of Ohio is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Newberry.

Our congratulations is extended to Misses Donna Sue Spencer and Sharon Combs, who were among the group of young ladies that served as models in the Perry County Homemakers Fashion Show. These young ladies are to be commended for their interest in the 4-H work.

Mr. Ernest Fritts, Jr. has returned from a two weeks stay in Thomaston, Georgia. He speaks very highly of the place and its residents. He also stated that Georgia has more bad "sinus" weather than Kentucky.

Pine Mountain District FHA Meets

September 19 At M. C. Napier School

The Pine Mountain District of the Future Homemakers of America met Saturday, September 19 for their fall meeting at M. C. Napier High School.

The theme of the meeting was "Leadership Under the F.H.A. Big Top." The purposes of the meeting were to help the chapter officers to understand the responsibilities of their office, to learn more about the FHA organization, to make friends and have fun, to develop an appreciation of their office in FHA, and to grow as a leader of FHA.

The meeting was called to order by Judy Noble, district president. Janice Campbell, president of M. C. Napier High School, welcomed the members to their high school. Charlotte Dye, State President brought greetings from the state. Miss Edith Orick, adviser to the Hindman chapter gave a start on group work by her talk and pictures on "Pulling Together". Training sessions for chapter officers were then conducted by the district officers. Sack lunches were served in the school cafeteria.

The prayer of faith shall save him that is sick.

—(James 5:15).

We can use our faith to help others in sickness, as well as ourselves. Our prayers can be like lights in the darkness because our affirmations of God-life can bring His healing presence to the side of the one in need of Him.

Betty Caldwell, Second Vice President, presided at the afternoon session. Miss Eugenia Hutton, Judy Noble, and Susan Fischer gave a report on the national meeting they attended during the summer in Chicago. Charlotte Dye, State President, told us "what it means to be a district and state officer. After a speech in which Mrs. Doratha Oatts asked if we "Would Join the FHA Parade", the meeting was adjourned.

Lothair Revival Starts Oct. 5

By H. C. Robertson

Clarence Keith, a former Combs resident, was admitted to the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital last week.

The revival at the Vico Methodist Church closed early because two or three churches in that area announced revivals for the same time.

A revival meeting will begin at the Lothair Methodist Church, October 5. Rev. Herbert Godsey is the evangelist.

The W.S.C.S. of the Combs Methodist Church will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. John Coda Thursday, October 1, at 7 p.m.

The Board of Stewards will hold their regular meeting at the Combs Methodist Church Sunday evening at the close of the 7 p.m. service. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Luttrell visited their son, Bill, at Fort Knox, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gabbard visited Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Kelly Sunday.

Janice Feltner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feltner, visited in Fort Knox recently.

Many of the residents of Combs were thrilled four or five weeks ago to learn that the television line operated by Elbert Fields was going to change hands, the reason being poor television. Now many of us have no television. Gloom and pessimism have taken the place of thrill. It looks like no more television for us.

Good seamanship begins with choosing the right fabric for the pattern. For easy care fashions select machine-washable fabrics such as a new collection in plaids and plains made with Creslan acrylic fiber. Elaborate fashions call for a simple fabric, such as a solid or small neat check. An uncomplicated style should be used for a plaid fabric.

The low-waisted look, with its hip-riding belt, highlights this dress-up fashion with box-pleated skirt. Since the lines of the dress are important to its beauty, a solid fabric in a rich color is a good choice.

This easy-to-make jumper is perfect for plaid, since there are only two main pattern pieces. The solid-colored, cowl neck blouse accents the side-slashed jumper with its fashionable V neck.
